

GUIDELINES AND SELECTION CRITERIA

Arbour Scholarship - Renewal

Doctorate and master's degree

Eligibility

These guidelines are solely for actual Arbour scholarship recipients at the master's or doctoral level who are seeking, for a second time, financial assistance from the Arbour Foundation to pursue full-time studies at one of the following Québec universities: Bishop's University, Concordia University, École de technologie supérieure, HEC Montréal, Institut national de la recherche scientifique, McGill University, Polytechnique Montréal, Université de Montréal, Université de Sherbrooke, Université du Québec à Montréal, and Université Laval.

Selection criteria

	Master's	Doctorate
Academic performance (min 75% - cumulative average of the last diploma obtained or of the last session(s) of the current diploma)	50%	45%
Leadership / Social involvement	20%	10%
Valid and recognized financial need *	20%	25%
Research skills and/or ability to apply prior learning and skills	10%	20%

* Financial need is a key criterion for the Arbour Foundation. The Foundation recognizes that each case is unique and is committed to evaluating each bursary application taking into account the particular situation of each student. However, it is important to note that a student receiving a bursary of $35,000 and over for the year for which he or she is applying for an Arbour Scholarship will have his/her application immediately rejected.

Instructions to submit an application

A complete application file must include:

- The application form for the Arbour scholarship renewal duly completed including the consent for the privacy policy (downloaded from the Foundation's website and completed in a web browser or with Acrobat Reader – pay attention to the maximum number of words indicated);
- The following supporting documents:
 - ✓ All official university transcripts in French, English, or Spanish
 - ✓ Letter of support from an academic sponsor (details in the Letters of support section)
 - ✓ CV
 - ✓ List publications (if applicable)

Applications must be submitted directly to the university where the candidate is registered. As each university sets its own procedures and deadlines, it is the student's responsibility to get the proper information. Applications sent directly to the Arbour Foundation will not be accepted nor considered. This applies to the application form, transcripts and letters of support as well as any other document sent separately to the Foundation.

Universities forward all renewal applications to the Foundation. The Foundation's selection committees then select the candidates to be interviewed. If a candidate is not invited to the selection interview, he or she will be notified by the Foundation.

Candidates selected by the Foundation are invited to a selection interview that takes place in person (or, in cases of force majeure, virtually) between mid-August and mid-August. This year, individual selection interviews will take place from August 18th to 22nd, 2025 inclusively. The detailed schedule will be sent out in due time. Candidates are required to make themselves available for this period. If they are unable to attend the interview in person, the request must be justified in writing. Such a request will be evaluated by the Arbour Foundation, which, if deemed admissible, may allow the interview to take place virtually.

Once all interviews have been completed, the Foundation selects the candidates to be awarded a scholarship. The Foundation does not make a commitment to renew all finalist applications. All finalists are notified in mid-September whether or not they are awarded a scholarship. Renewal is not automatic.

Instructions for the letter of support

Only one letter of support must be included in the renewal application package. It must be written by the research supervisor who will highlight the candidate's academic and research performance.

This letter must be written on the institution's letterhead, be duly signed, and include the sponsor's title and contact information.

Value of scholarships and disbursement

The value of the PhD Arbour Scholarship renewal is $30,000 and $20,000 at the master's level. Scholarships are disbursed by the university in two equal instalments – one in the fall semester and the second in the winter semester – upon presentation of a full-time registration proof.

Important note for potential scholarship recipients who speak little or no French

The mission of the Arbour Foundation is first and foremost to contribute to Québec's economic growth through education. For this reason, it is important for international and Canadian students with no or little French skills to acquire this competence to fully participate in Québec's society and economy. The Arbour Foundation is currently working to facilitate their integration with a mentoring program, networking events and various other activities geared towards the same goal.

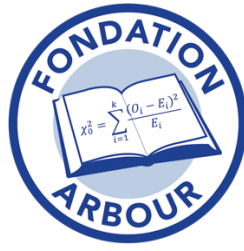

Since French is a key element in Quebec's cultural integration, the Arbour Foundation wishes to encourage all the students with little or no knowledge of the language to take French lessons on a regular basis. To this end, the Arbour Foundation will provide French-language learning courses to selected scholars.

The following protocol applies to new and returning scholars:

- The Arbour selection committees evaluate the French skills of each candidate during the selection interview.
- Candidates getting a scholarship whose level of French is deemed inadequate are personally notified by the Arbour Foundation. They receive the first instalment of their scholarship in the fall semester (October), but the second instalment (February) is conditional to attending French lessons AND receiving a positive evaluation from their instructors.
- The same conditions apply for renewal applications for a second year.
- Students are encouraged to participate in weekly lessons during both semesters (fall and winter).

- There is no charge for these lessons, as they are fully subsidized by the Arbour Foundation.
- Training is tailored to the needs of each student and is offered on an individual basis. Lessons can take place at different times of the week, depending on the agreement between the student and the instructor;
- There is no written exam, but simply an ongoing evaluation by the instructors. This evaluation is sent to the Arbour Foundation at the end of December of the current year and again at the end of June of the following year. If the December evaluation is positive, the second installment (February) of the scholarship is disbursed as planned. If the June evaluation is positive and, if it is possible for the student - according to the rules established by the Arbour Foundation - to apply for a one-year renewal of the scholarship, then the student may submit his application (Note: a positive evaluation does not grant automatic renewal; the regular selection criteria will also be applied by the Arbour selection committees).
- Should the evaluation be negative, the Arbour Foundation reserves the right to cancel the second instalment (February) and may not allow a student to submit a renewal application. In the event the payment of the second part of the scholarship is cancelled, the student and his or her home university will be notified as soon as possible. It should be noted that the Arbour Foundation makes no judgment on the improvement of the scholar's level of French and relies exclusively on the recommendation from the French instructor.

PLEASE NOTE*: If the student decides to take a French course at his home university (or any other university in Quebec), he will not be required to take the French lessons offered through the Arbour Foundation. The second installment will therefore be conditional on successfully completing the French course and submitting his/her transcript to the Arbour Foundation upon receipt of his/her grade for the course.
